Short (Research) Profile & Mission

- Młodzi o Polityce (Youth on Politics) is a student-led initiative at the University of Warsaw that aims to provide a space for young people interested in politics and media to grow and develop. We offer opportunities to gain initial professional experience, improve writing skills, and practice editorial work. Our goal is to help our authors cultivate their passions, learn to work properly with text and sources and ultimately find their footing more easily in the media and non-profit organizations.

Current (Research) Project

Quarterly magazine, containing ~10-page articles on current issues regarding politics in Poland, the world, as well as sociopolitical questions.

Current (Research) Project

Shorter (~5-6 pages) opinion columns on current political issues.

Questions to Academia

- What are three best papers on the growing anxiety in the Western societies from last year, and why has no one heard about them?
- Is there a way to enhance the current process so important papers are actually being read by decision-makers and contribute to a better quality of life?

Questions to Civil Society

- Does the problem of the rise of modern populism account for more danger in Poland or in Germany?
- What are the characteristics of a contemporary populist voter?
- Do NGOs matter nowadays? What is the real role of them in turbulent and unpredictable world?
